In fact, it was universally admitted that if Kerr could teach his men to play the whole game as they did that first ten minutes, Stanford would become more than just a mediocre eleven of the Pacific Coast. Stanford, 9; St. Mary s, 0. St. Mary s--a far different St. Mary s from the weak Oakland outfit that was washed under by California s 127 to 0 tidal wave two years ago--gave Kerr s varsity a hard rub. Madigan s men knew football and knew how to fight, especially within the 20-yard line. Because they did, it took three field goals by Murray Cuddeback, Cardinal fullback, to turn the trick for Stanford. Stanford outplayed St. Mary s decisively--there was no doubt about that. The Cardinal backs carried the ball 281 yards, as compared with 70 for St. Mary s. Wilcox and Cuddeback averaged nine yards better per punt than Black and Grant. But when the critical moment came, there was no one to open up a hole for Wilcox, Doughty, or Cuddeback to plunge through for a touchdown. Even though it failed to push over a touchdown on the team that was defeated 41 to 0 by California a week before, Stanford looked better than at any time before. A double criss-cross, with three men handling the ball before the halfback finally cut around end was especially effective. Doughty and Wilcox dodged and twisted their way for long runs through the strong Saint defense. A...
